

The Brown Movement Coalition - Joint Statement of Illumination

BMC representatives

Brown President Mr. Rodolfo A. Lopez V24087

Brown Speaker Mr. Luciano Rivera G30306

Brown Secretary Mr. Geronimo Polina AR2513

Brown Chief Organizer Mr. Luis Martinez F91559

As always, we send you all strength and solidarity as we speak with the united voice of the voiceless, the chilling screams of the unconquerable and the unbreakable echos of oppression, as we continue to rise throughout it all with no equivocation for our noble convictions.

Coming to the end of a turbulent 2017, we would like to first always thank you for your unshakable resolve and resilience as we continue to lead the vanguard for change against all odds and many instruments of oppression. We've continued to take steps to combat many years of institutionalized racism, discrimination, abuses of power, and oppression. However, we must remain vigilant in our justified fight to combat these abuses, as nothing coming by easy means is ever even worth obtaining in a world where we dedicate our lives to a cause much greater than ourselves.

The arbiters of oppression seek to extirpate our many accomplishments, from prop 57, AB 260, an eye on revalidation etc, by blatantly violating California bills, passing more obfuscated draconian policies, continuing duplicit practices in a culture of corruption and imposing more harassment and barriers for us all to fall victim to. As the end of the Ashker agreement observation period comes to an end, we need to continue to challenge these draconian actions abuses and policies. Looking forward into 2018, we will meet the the plastic faces of oppression with the strength, unity, resilience and resolve of the oppressed.

The Brown Movement Coalition hopes our words and reflections bring forth some form of truth in a watered down world full of lies and deceit. As always we stand for all the colors and shades of the oppressed, our brown sisters and brothers, our united women's struggle for equality and life free of abuse, discrimination and harassment. We stand for the humane treatment or migrants (immigrant) families, education (long live Malala), the eradication of poverty and world wide hunger and unequivocal prosperity and equality for all the minority lower class (MLC) communities. As we continue to illuminate all shades of brownness our movement represents, we stand tall for all of our disenfranchised people suffering under the many heels of oppression.

May 2018 bring better stronger, more well versed and illuminated women and men standing tall, rising on both sides of these walls and chains, that can never contain nor define us. We now see the sunrise at the edge of the struggle as we continue our united rise. This year the Brown Movement Coalition will seek to focus on working with strong, resilient advocates to push for instrumental bills, policies and laws without loopholes or room for manipulation, extending the Ashker agreement observation/overview period, pushing policies to give all prisoners the opportunity to get a release date (ending LWOP) and improved meaningful programing with a true focus on rehabilitation. We will dedicate our efforts to one of the most essential aspects of rehabilitation: family connection and reunification. We know the well documented value of connections with family and friends as a major catalyst for change and rehabilitation. We seek to focus our efforts on passing a bill to provide video messaging/communication in addition to ongoing in person contact visits and reasonably priced phone calls. Please contact us directly if you are interested in working with us on this.

We in the Brown Movement Coalition challenge you all to grab hold of your own destiny, define your own reality and assure that your beliefs and struggles are more than just fashion statements to inflate your own careers and egos in the form of a hashtag. To those that claim to be standing for something (#brownlivesrising), we challenge you to take a stand, be proactive in challenging mass discrimination, seek that which allows you to grow and rise.

It is said throughout our religion, as a follower of Ometetl (the Lord of Duality) and the path of the Tolteca's (great artisans) that only by looking deep within oneself will we see and reveal our true essence and self in a poetic reflection/in - xochi, in cuique/flower song (poem) which is our only truth on earth - and once reflected in it's true essence it will live forever and become immortalized beauty. We challenge you to find your true essence, to reveal your in-xochi, in-cuique within 3 days. Should your vision be obscured with no revelation, we ask you to donate to an organization you support and then forward this request to 3 friends or family member and ask them to do the same.

In strength and solidarity
Mr. Rodolfo A. Lopez V24087

I stand

I stand

For the voices of
The voiceless and the
Many echos of oppression.
The shifting tides
Finds, the end to the influences of the Harvey Weinstein's
And puts and end to the Charlie Roses
As she stands - tall
Through her essence
He's at her side with his
True Convictions
I stand tall
And through it all
If I ever fail
It will all have been worth it.
I stand tall
For - justice, prosperity, equality
Sacrifices, time and united efforts
Finds me dedicated in this endless struggle and all the trials
Find in front of me!
I stand tall
For all of you and all your
Minds, visions and true reflections
To find me always by your side
And trust as I continue to rise
We rise together

The Brown Movement Coalition promotes peace, prosperity, unequivocal social, political, economic equality and opportunity for all our brown sisters, brothers, members of the minority lower class communities and all disenfranchised people suffering under the heels of oppression.
